

We participate in “Book Baton Project”

We participate in “Book Baton Project” by Room To Read - which is non-profit organization for improving literacy and gender equality in education in the developing world -

We collected books lying at the office or home from employees and group companies.

520 books were collected, and we sold them at the book market in our head office.

And we donated proceeds from the market, which equals to amount of money for making 830 books - children can read their own language -

We would like to keep participating in “Book Baton Project.”
